Karen Richmond, PhD is a socio-legal scholar, currently working as a postdoctoral researcher with the European Graduate School (Division of Philosophy, Art, and Critical Theory). She completed her undergraduate studies at University of Edinburgh, graduating in law. Her work focuses on the interactions between law, and science, with a particular focus on the construction, and regulation, of expert scientific evidence. She has worked at the University of Edinburgh, and the Leverhulme Research Centre for Forensic Science. More information here: https://lawandscienceweb.wordpress.com/

Selected Publications

Richmond, K., 3 Sep 2018, Interdisciplinary Research in Law and Forensic Science: From 'silos' to systems. In Critical Issues in Science, Technology and Society Studies: Conference Proceedings of the 17th STS Conference Graz 2018, 7th - 8th May 2018. Getzinger, G. (ed.). Graz, Austria: Technischen Universität Graz, p. 166 - 175 10 p.

Richmond, K., Streamlined Forensic Reporting: 'Swift and sure justice'? (2018) : Journal of Criminal Law. 82, Vol. 2, p. 156-177 22 p.

Richmond, K 'Customer-Driven Standardisation in the Forensic Science Market in England and Wales' in Kai Jakobs (Ed.) Managing Corporate Standardisation and Meeting Economic Demands (2019) (IGI Global: Pennsylvania)

Richmond, K. 'The Uncanny Valley: Extimité and the Lacanian Subject' Queer-Feminist Science and Technology Studies Forum, Volume 4, (2019). www.QueerSTS.com

Forthcoming publication:

Richmond, K (2020) Marketised Forensic Science Provision in England & Wales (Emerald Publishing: London)