

Philip Krogull is a German student assistant currently supporting the "Carbon Diet" research project, which is about the carbon footprint of academic business travel. He will be graduating in December with a bachelor's degree in "Environmental Systems Science" with a primary emphasis on economics. He is also working for the FH Joanneum, assisting another research project about implementing the topic of cryptocurrencies in the school curriculum. His main interests are the complex interlinks between environment and economy and the sustainable transformation of our society.
