

Filip Rozborski has a background in mecatronics and holds bachelor degree in sociology from the Technische Universität Berlin. He is currently pursuing a master's degree in sociology and technology studies at the Technische Universität Berlin. He has completed exchange semesters at the Universidad Complutense de Madrid and the University of Twente, where he also currently conducts a research for his master's thesis that focuses on the sociotechnical expectations and visions regarding hydrogen technology in the German policy discourse.

At the STS Unit Filip Rozborski assist the work of the HydroFRAME project.

Main fields of research

sociotechnical transformations; anticipations of sociotechnical futures; sociology of knowledge, science, and technology; philosophy of science and technology