Differences matter
Graz University of Technology promotes the examination of the human factor, its diversity, in technology and natural sciences and makes this visible. The Diversity Award is announced annually for this purpose. The best five submissions are selected by a jury and awarded a cash prize of 500 to 1,500 (for teams).

What can be submitted?
• Scientific theses, publications, conference contributions
• Research projects (ongoing or completed)
• Teaching content and/or methods (planned or implemented)
• Further training (attended or ongoing) for the development of know-how on diversity
• Non-scientific projects, if they aim to promote diversity in research and teaching

Who can submit?
Students and employees of Graz University of Technology — as individuals or as a team

Judging criteria?
Examination, consideration and integration of diversity aspects (such as gender, age, culture, language, experience, physical abilities, etc.)

Call for proposals?
